The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the indelicate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispenses with the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients, will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of KNOWN COMPOSITION. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound.

If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate and regulate stomach, liver and bowels.

LENTEN REGULATIONS FOR CATHOLICS.

A circular issued by Bishop Van de Vyver, of the Diocese of Richmond, which prescribes the regulations for the observance of Lent follows:

Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, falls this year on March 4th.

All the faithful, who have completed their 21st year, are, unless legitimately dispensed, bound to observe the fast of Lent.

They are to take but one meal a day excepting Sundays.

The meal allowed on fast days is not to be taken till about noon.

A small refreshment, commonly called collation, is permitted in the evening.

The following persons are exempt from the obligation of fasting: Persons under 21 years of age; the sick; nursing women; those who are obliged to do hard labor, and those who, though weakness, cannot fast without great prejudice to their health.

The faithful are reminded that, besides the obligation of fasting imposed by the Church, this holy season of Lent should be, in an especial manner, a time of earnest prayer, of sorrow for sin, of seclusion from the world and its amusements, and of generous alms-giving.

The Paschal time extends from the first Sunday in Lent till Trinity Sunday; during which time all Catholics who have attained a fitting age are bound to receive worthily the Holy Communion.

By virtue of an Indult to the United States, dated August 3, 1887 the following special dispensations are granted:

The use of flesh meats is permitted at all meals on Sundays, and once a day on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, with the exception of the second and last Saturdays of Lent. But flesh meat and fish are not to be used at the same meal during Lent, even on Sundays.

The use of butter, cheese, milk and eggs is also permitted every day in Lent.

It is allowed to take in the morning some warm liquid, as tea, coffee, or thin chocolate, made with warm water, and with this liquid a mouthful of bread.

Those for whom the hour of noon may be an inconvenient time for dinner, may invert the order and take their collation in the morning and their dinner in the evening.

The use of hog's lard, or drippings, instead of butter, is authorized in preparing permitted food.

Persons exempt from the obligation of fasting are free to take meat more than once on those days when its use is granted by dispensation.

By virtue of an Indult granted to us by the Holy See, March 12, 1895, we permit to all working men and their families the use of flesh meat once a day on all fast days and abstinence days throughout the year, with the exception of Fridays. Ash Wednesdays, the Wednesday and Saturday of Holy Week and the Eve of Christmas.

Those who avail themselves of this Indult are not allowed to use flesh meat and fish at the same meal, and they are earnestly exhorted to perform some other act of mortification, such as abstinence from intoxicating liquors.

The Rev. Pastors are reminded that on the first Sunday in Lent the collection for the Indian and colored missions is to be taken up in all the churches throughout the diocese.

A THANKSGIVING OFFERING.

Samuel Oppenheim, a well-known and wealthy Jew, who died recently in London, left handsome legacies to various charities. His last will and testament is a curiosity in its way. It begins with a grave thanks offering for the prosperity of his long life.

"I thank the Almighty," runs the opening sentence, "for the kindness He has shown me in this world, and for having given me bread to eat and raiment to put on, and as a thanksgiving offering to Him I give the one-tenth part in value of my estate for charitable purposes, in addition to the legacies to charities hereinafter mentioned, for the purpose of showing that a person is not restricted from giving more than a tithe of his income to the poor."

Mr. Oppenheim further desired that when his bounty was received the recipients should express no thanks to the organizations which dispensed relief.

"Instead thereof," he wrote in his will, "they shall thank the Almighty for having given them relief. I thank God that He has enabled me to give back in charity a part of what He has given me, and with happiness I make these gifts."

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER.

TUESDAY EVENING, MAR. 3, 1908.

"RATHER than have my daughter work for her living I would steal to support her," was the utterance of Mrs. Evelyn Woods, of Philadelphia, when she and her twenty-year-old daughter Eva were ar. raigned before a magistrate last week to answer the charge of shoplifting. The magistrate realizing that the woman came from a good family, tried to aid them, but his solicitations went for naught, as the woman absolutely refused to take any steps that would lead to her release. They were held in $500 bail each for court. The accused had stolen fifty dollars' worth of wearing apparel. The above is a specimen of the erroneous notion some people entertain of the mission of life. Most of the trouble which infests the world is the outcome of attempts to evade a plain law of revelation as well as nature. A certain percentage of the inhabitants of the world make up their minds that they will neither toil nor spin, but that they will get through life in some way at the expense of others. The woman referred to above had brought an offspring into the world which she had tutored to eat the bread of idleness, and the mother preferred to commit grand larceny rather than to allow her daughter to work as other young women. Such people deserve no sympathy.

MR. HEPBURN'S long promised bill restricting Wall street stock gambling was presented to the House yesterday, as was stated in the Gazette of that day. It imposes a tax of one-half of one per cent. upon all transactions, whether stocks are actually sold or merely the form of sale is made. This tax is imposed upon the amount of stock involved in the transaction. Upon a bona fide sale amounting to $10,000, the tax would be $50; upon a margin sale of like amount, where the speculator invested only 10 per cent., or $1,000, the same tax would be imposed, but in the margin transaction it would amount to 5 per cent. upon the capital actually invested. While there is no question of the purpose of the bill, its effect may not be so satisfactory as its author believes. A heavier tax was imposed upon sales of stock during the Spanish war period, and was not regarded as a restriction at all. However, there can be no doubt that it makes margin gambling much more expensive, and, therefore, should reduce the volume of such transactions materially.

IT is understood that the supporters of an extra session of the legislature do not find much comfort in the Senate. The men of that body, many of them old and experienced men, want to stay in Richmond and to keep at work till they have cleared away some of the mass of measures which are now piled up before them. It is believed that the Senate and the House will not be far apart when the matter is discussed. If there is a special session it will cost the State about $50,000. Each member will receive $250, and there is no way for the members to explain that they are not "casting an anchor to windward" when they espouse an extra session. The republicans are standing against an extra session. The older members of the majority party will take the same view, and it is more than probable that the session will be extended for two weeks and that the entire business will be cleaned up before the members go to their homes.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, D. C., March 3.

Four naval officers were examined today by the Senate committee on naval affairs to offset the testimony taken yesterday and on preceding days with reference to the danger alleged to exist through the use of the present style of ammunition hoists which serve the turrets on the American modern battleships. They were commander F. F. Fletcher and Lieutenant Commander V. O. Chase Professor Philip R. Alger, and Lieutenant Commander Joseph Strauss. They all concurred in stating that the alleged dangers had been exaggerated and that everything possible was being done by the department to minimize such danger as really existed. As for the poor exhibition of shooting given by the American ships at the battle of Santiago which was referred to yesterday by Commander Sims as "the most disgraceful exhibition of gunnery ever seen on the face of the globe, it was declared that no navy in the world could have done better than did the American navy at that time.

Prospects are that the hearing in the government's case against the Standard Oil Company to be held at Cleveland, O., March 9, will bring out the most sensational evidence yet adduced, as that city is the center of the Standard's operations, and Rockefeller's home. The hearing in this city adjourned late yesterday afternoon after C. H. Mahle's testimony as to the Standard's tactics in Baltimore.

Chairman Knapp, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Commissioner of Labor Neill had a brief conference yesterday respecting the proposed mediation between the Southern Railway and its employes other than locomotive engineers. No conclusion was reached.

Announcement was made today of the resignation of the American Minister to Guatemala, Joseph W. Lee, because of ill health following his four years service in the tropics. Mr. Lee will be succeeded by William Heimke, of Kansas.

Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, made a stirring speech today before the House committee on judiciary in favor of the pending resolutions to amend the constitution so as to give women the right of suffrage. Dividing into squads of two, headed by Mrs. Elsie Clews Parsons, wife of Representative Parsons of New York and daughter of Henry Clews, the banker, and by Rev. Anna Shaw, President of the National Suffrage Association, the suffragettes laid their demands before the judiciary committee and the Woman's Suffrage Committee of the Senate. The women asked for an amendment to the constitution so as to give them right of suffrage. There is very little probability, according to members of the committees, that there will be any favorable action on the proposition.

Attorney General Bonaparte today discredited reports that the government was contemplating taking legal steps to restrain the Southern Pacific railroad company from paying a dividend on the stock held by the Union Pacific and allied railroad interests.

Governor Hughes practically told the New York assembly, the lower body of the New York State legislator today that it was "none of its business" who his informant was when he quoted as saying that there is a fund of $200,000 to influence the State legislator in its action on the so-called anti-gambling bills.

Members of the Jamestown Exposition Company appeared before the House committee on naval affairs today to ask the passage of a bill providing for the purchase by the government of the buildings and grounds of the exposition for the use of the Navy Department as a training station. The price they want for the property is $2,000,000, or as much of that as they can get. T. J. Wood, of Portsmouth, was the principal speaker. Harry St. George Tucker, president of the company, and the other officers were present.

Sixtieth Congress.

Washington, Mar. 3.

SENATE.

Mr. Tillman asked immediate consideration for a dragnet resolution calling upon the comptroller of the currency for a detailed statement of the loans of New York city national banks from June to December of last year. It charged that "banks in cities where stock exchanges are located loan money of depositors, which are trust funds upon worthless stocks and bonds traded in on these stock exchanges, on terms that make such loans most dangerous, putting banks making such loans in positions of menace to the public." He particularly called for information as to whether such loans were made by the executive officer of the bank or by the directors.

Mr. Aldrich objected to consideration, The resolution will come up tomorrow for action.

A petition urging legislatioon for Sunday observance, received from the Seventh Day Baptists of Plainfield, N. J., was read in the Senate this afternoon.

The Senate today passed the bill directing the Interstate Commerce Commission to investigate on facing point switches and appliance for their automatic control.

HOUSE.

Mr. Smith (Rep. Cal.,) made an unsuccessful attempt to have the agricultural lands in forest reserves in southern California open to entry, in the discretion of the Secretary of Agriculture. Minority leader Williams objected to consideration of the bill, saying the government might not always have as honest a Secretary of Agriculure as Secretary Wilson.

Mr, Goebel urged the passage of the Humphreys bill as amended to agree with the Gallinger ocean mail service bill.

Negro Assailant "Doped."

Eight separate charges were filed in Richmond yesterday against Robert Faulkner, colored, who Sunday night shot seven persons on the street. The negro was suffering from the effects of "dope." He says he had trouble with his brother and another negro before the riot and that one of them shot him in the leg. He acknowledges breaking into the hardware store and taking the gun and cartridges, saying that the theft was committed with the idea of defending himself. The negro alleges that his indiscriminate shooting of innocent pedestrians, including the two young women, was done because he throught the people were seeking to arrest him and prevent his get even with his assailants.

All of the victims of the negro were discharged from the city Hospital yesterday, with the exception of W. F. Cauldrey, who was shot in the neck, eye and right arm.

The cases against the negro were continued, pending the recovery of the victims.

BOILED TO DEATH.

Falling into a tank of borax and boiling water, one man is dead and two are perhaps fatally burned. The accident occurred yesterday at the plant of the Calmo Borax Company, 119 West Side avenue, Jersey City.

While standing on a narrow plank over the tank Wassag lost his balance and fell. In so doing he shook the plank on which the other two men stood, and they also fell into the tank.

As the men fell they shrieked for help, and fellow-workmen drew them out. They were hurried to the City Hospital, where Wassag died. The chances of the other two are said to be very slight. It is thought all three were overcome by ammonia fumes.

Archbishop Farley Threatened.

New York, Mar. 3.—That the activities of the anarchists has not been confined to Chicago alone became known here today when Police Commissioner Bingham admitted that Archbishop Farley, head of the Catholic Archdiocese of New York, had received a letter containing threats against his life, but that the letter had been suppressed at the request of the police. Bingham also admitted one of his deputies has also received a communicaion declaring he would be "put out of the way" if he continued his present attitude against certain elements of society.

The rainy weather of yesterday was followed by clearing conditions during last night, and this morning the weather was cooler and fair.

Two trainmen were hurt and twenty cars of merchandise were consumed as a result of a fire which followed the explosion of a car of powder and dynamite on the Big Four road near Litchfield, Ill., today. The train was going at a high rate of speed and the shock of the explosion was heard for miles.

Senator Robbins has introduced a resolution in the New Jersey legislature providing for the return of captured Confederates flags. This measure will undoubtedly meet with favor in both houses, and, when it is signed by Gov. Franklin Fort, eight stands of colors taken in the civil war will be turned over to the southerners.

ATTACKS THE NAVY.

If the statements made before the Senate committee on naval affairs yesterday by Commander Sims, former naval aid to the President, the naval history of the war with Spain must be rewritten and much that has been handed down in praise of the gunnery of American man-of-war's-men must be expunged.

Among other things Commander Sims said:

"The most disgraceful exhibition of gunnery that ever took place on the face of the globe. Nine thousand projectiles were fired and only 120 hits were recorded. If there had been any decent display of seamanship on the part of the Spaniards they would have gotten away.

"Cervera did not have proper ammunition to fit his guns. If he did have he would have made trouble for us. As it was, he was worse off than we.

"If I may be permitted to show these things and succeed, I think they will be worth more than all the rest of the examination."

Criticising the battleship construction, Commander Sims said:

"The armor belt on all our battleships is too low. If an admiral should go out of port without full bunkers—say on a cruise to the Pacific—and should meet an enemy—say in the West Indies—he would be court-martialed.

"When Admiral Evans' fleet left Trinidad the vessels had full stores of coal aboard. After steaming 3,000 miles some of the vessels had practically exhausted their stores of coal, and there was some anxiety that the coal supply was not sufficient to enable them to reach Rio. But when the vessels arrived the water lines of the Connecticut class were fully a foot and a half below normal.

King Manuel Warned.

Lisbon, March 3.—Queen Amelie continues to receive letters warning her that King Manuel's abdication and departure from Portugal alone will save him from assassination. Why the communications should all be addressed to the queen is a puzzle to the police, who seem wholly unable to learn the identity of the writers.

The persistency of threats is causing uneasiness in court circles. There is no doubt that a large element of Portugese is dissatisfied with the new government and the attitude of the army and navy continues a source of grave uneasiness.

The general opinion is that in the event of the overturning of the government both elements would accept the changed conditions, though they might do nothing actively to aid in a revolution.

Says He Was Hypnotized.

London, March 3.—The Marquis of Townsend is suing Rev. Arthur Robins, former curate of Holy Trinity Church, one of the most fashionable of the London houses of worship, for large sums of money and almost priceless heirlooms. He says the latter persuaded him to give away by hypnotizing him and making him think he did not want them. He accuses Robins, too, of temporarily estranging his wife from him.

A double killing occurred at Jonesboro, twenty miles south of Bristol, last night, when Sam Hampton, colored, a mail carrier, shot and killed William Wilson, a well-to-do negro, of that place, and then, seeing that he had killed the wrong man, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. Hampton started to the train with a load of mail, and, seeing a man whom he took to be Sam Greenly, against whom he had a grudge, he left the wagon, and, coming within a few feet of him in the dark, fired. As his victim sank to the ground he saw his mistake and killed himself.

While the Florida special from New York, was speeding south, Dr. Charles W. B. Wheeler, of New York, made such desperate love to Miss Harriet B. Sweet that he persuaded her to leave the train at Richmond and marry him in the historic St. John's Church. Miss Sweet changed her mind after she left the train, and even declined to marry Dr. Wheeler after the marriage license had been secured, but finally the historic church, added to the doctor's pleading, proved too strong for her objection. The doctor gave his age as thirty-six and his wife's as thirty-seven.

As the result of a quarrel between Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Combs, at Lamberts Point, Norfolk, the head of the family is in St. Vincent's Hospital with a bullet in his thigh fired from a pistol in the hands of Clifton Sawyer, a stepson, Saturday. Mrs. Combs caused the arrest of her husband on the charge of nonsupport and drunkness, but the magistrate dismissed the case when it was called. Overtures for a reconciliation were made by Combs to his wife, but these were rejected, and a quarrel followed. Mrs. Combs, it is alleged, drove her husband from the house, and as he retreated Sawyer is accused of shooting him. Mrs Combs has been married seven times.

THE RACING BILL.

Delegate Edwin P. Cox, of Richmond, was prompt to arise in the House yesterday morning and request the recommittal of House bill 421, the seemingly innocent measure which, according to Commonwealth's Attorney Crandal Mackey, of Alexandria, is designed to protect the gamblers and sports of his section.

The House patrons of the bill are Messrs. Wilson and Pitts, and it has been reported from the committee on general laws.

Almost before he got through talking Delegate Martin Williams, of Giles, was on his feet to oppose the motion. As Mr. Cox failed to get the required two-thirds vote, he failed to carry his point.

The full title of House bill 421 is as follows: "To establish a State Breeders' Commission for encouraging the breeding of horses in the State and providing for the appointment of the members thereof; bestowing upon the said commission certain police powers for the purpose of regulating the orderly and proper conduct of trials of speed and endurance, providing penalties for pool-selling, bookmaking and other gambling, and providing that 5 per cent. of the gross receipts shall be paid into the treasury of the State annually for the improvement of the county roads."

Mr. Pitts said that naturally he, for the present, took the statements of Mr. Mackey with a grain of salt. But neither he nor Mr. Wilson is dogmatic about the bill, and if it actually be so heavily loaded as is charged, they wish its vicious features viscerated.

Messrs. Wilson and Pitts yesterday gave out the following statement about the bill:

"We were asked by gentlemen of high standing in Virginia to introduce House bill No. 421, with the assurance that it was their wish and purpose to have passed a measure from which every gambling feature should be eliminated and prohibited, and while we believe the bill as printed is sufficiently guarded in this respect, if it is not, its friends will agree to any amendments looking to the prohibition of all kinds and forms of gambling."

Referring to the attack made by Commonwealth's Attorney Crandall Mackey, of Alexandria, on House bill No. 421, entitled "A bill to establish a State Breeders' Association," Senator Early, of Greene, who offered the measure in the Senate, in answer to an inquiry yesterday, said that Mr. Mackey had entirely misconceived the purpose of the bill, and that his deductions as to the effect of the measure were erroneous.

A commission to be appointed by the Governor will have supervision of matters pertaining to breeding and racing of horses, said Senator Early, and the bill is amply safeguarded against any of the dangers of race track gambling, that Mr. Mackey thinks he has discovered in it.

"If I did not believe that the bill was so safeguarded, and was distinctly and solely for the benefit of breeders of fine horses in Virginia, I would never have given it my endorsement," declared the senator. "The bill came to me with the recommendation of some of the most responsible horse breeders in the State, of the most responsible horse breeders in the State, of whom I am at liberty to mention R. J. Hancock & Son, of Charlottesville, and the Hon. Henry Fairfax, and from my own examination of the measure. I was convinced that the State would be benefited by its passage."—[Richmond Journal.

The Legislature.

The legislature entered yesterday upon the last week of its regular session.

Gov. Swanson communicated to the general assembly a communication from William Jennings Bryan, written in response to the invitation extended him to visit Virginia and make an address before the assembly. Mr. Bryan stated that he is still so engaged that he will be unable to come before March 25 to 26.

SENATE.

The House bill providing that county authorities may provide quarters for treasurers and commissioners of the revenue was taken up in the Senate yesterday and concurred in.

The bill amending the oyster laws and jurisdiction of the State in the waters of the Potomac, concurrent with the State of Maryland, came over from the House, and was referred. This bill was taken up immediately in the Senate and agreed to.

The Senate passed the bill providing for accepting the James bequest, and for executing its provisions by the University of Virginia. Under the terms of the bequest, the university will receive $250,000.

The bill from the House regulating the taking of seed oysters from the Potomac, communicated at one o'clock, was taken up on motion of Senator Walker and the readings were dispensed with and the measure put on its passage. Senator Walker explained that the bill was the one agreed on by the Maryland and Virginia commission and that it was necessary that it have speedy action. It passed without a dissenting vote.

The proposition to revise the code of Virginia, which has passed the House, struck a snag in the Senate in the afternoon, Senator Keezell declaring that the time was not yet ripe for the work. He said that the legislature has the option of changing the method of taxing the corporations of the State after the new constitution shall have been in effect 10 years, and as this does not expire till 1913, and the committee which might be chosen to do the work of revising the code was to submit its report prior to that time, he did not think the work would be worth much. He was still fighting the matter when the Senate adjourned.

The Senate passed Senate bills:

To regulate and define the liability of common carriers for injuries to their employes from negligence.

Providing that any misrepresentation by a minor of his age shall not operate to bar a recovery, in a suit for damages for his injury or death caused by the negligence of his employer, or other person having control or direction of the services or work of such minor, if recovery should otherwise be had, unless his true age, as to which he shall have made misrepresentation, shall have contributed to the cause of his injury.

To amend an act to provide for a method for a better assessment of personal property under the control of fiduciaries and the several courts of the commonwealth.

To authorize sheriffs to receive and turn over to county treasurers poll taxes assessed against qualified voters.

To establish a board for the examination of accountants, to provide for the granting of certificates to accountants and to provide a punishment for the violation of this act.

To confer authority upon the councils of the cities of the State to prescribe by ordinance penalties and fines and imprisonment in jail for assault and battery; receiving stolen goods, gambling, carrying concealed weapons vagrancy and trespassing upon property within the corporate limits of said cities. Also House bill to revise and digest the Code and statutes of Virginia.

HOUSE.

The commissioners of the revenue bill came up on final passage in the House yesterday. The bill passed by a large majority.

The House defeated the bill to impose a tax on the business of selling, giving and delivering coupons, tags, brands, box fronts or similar devices in connection with the sale of articles. The bill was chiefly aimed at the giving away of prizes for cigarette coupons and tobacco tags.

The House committee on schools and colleges last night amended the bill passed several days ago in the Senate by making Fredericksburg instead of Harrisonburg the site for the proposed new State normal school.

Gambling, public and private, was discussed. The so-called "pink tea bill" was amended so as to permit the playing for prizes, and was advanced to its third reading. Without amendment the bill would have dealt a mortal blow to those euchre and bridge whist parties which derive their incentive from some glittering bauble.

A bill to confer on the State Corporation Commission power to fix rates for water supply companies, electric light and power companies, and gas companies, and to prevent discrimination was defeated.

Bills were passed:

Providing for increased pay for county treasurers. The bill was discussed by Mr. Sutherland, of Dickinson, and was passed.

The bill fixing the dates for holding the the terms of Circuit Courts was passed.

To provide for a commission to devise a stable method for the maintenance, management and expansion of the educational institutions of the State.

To amend section 526 of the Code of Virginia, in regard to increasing the compensation of commissioners of the revenue.

The Ohio republican State convention will open at Columbus, at 4 p. m. today for its early and perfunctor first day session. The platform will be practically that dictated at Washington by Taft and will accept all the Roosevelt policies. Governor Harris will be renominated by acclamation.

Arrest of Suspects.

Chicago, Mar. 3.—Isador Maron, a alleged to be a fellow anarchist of Lazarus Averbush, the slain would-be assassin of Chief of Police Shippy, was captured at 7 o'clock this morning. His arrest was caused by his visit to the Averbush flat. Detectives who guarded the place all night to take into custody the second sister of Averbush, were rewarded at daylight by a message from a woman who was assisting them to the effect that the "curly-headed young Jew who went with Averbush to the anarchist meeting Sunday, would soon be there." Maron appeared an hour later carrying a book on anarchism, a socialist paper containing an account of the attack upon Chief Shippy and some Yiddish literature. He was nervous and excited. He stopped at the flat of a neighbor and inquired what had become of the Averbush girls.

On being informed that they were not at the flat, he started away. He was seized by two detectives, who took him to the office of acting Chief Schuettler to be "sweated." His inability to speak English fluently and the lack of an interpreter, made attempts to get information from him difficult. Maron admits being an acquaintance of the family. He denies all knowledge of Averbush's anarchistic plans.

The directly inciting causes of this attempt to assassinate the chief of police, it is alleged, was the publication in the daily press of an announcement that Emma Goldman would be deported from America if she tried to speak in Chicago.

Harry Shippy, the 19-year-old son of Chief Shippy, who is at Augustina Hospital suffering from the bullet wound inflicted by the would-be assassin, was reported today to be resting well. His chances of recovery are favorable.

The Gerry-Harriman Wedding.

New York, Mar. 3.—Grace Church was today the scene of another notable wedding when at noon Miss Cornelia Harriman, daughter of E. H. Harriman, became the bride of Robert L Gerry, son of Commodore Elbridge T Gerry. An audience, which included all the city's ultra-fashionables, crowded the church for the ceremony.

The bride was led to the altar by her father, who gave her away. Rev. Mr. Huntington, rector of Grace Church, officiated, assisted by Rev J. H. McGuiness, of St. John's Church, Arden, N. Y., where the Harrimans have their summer home. Bishop Doane, of Albany, pronounced the benediction.

Miss Mary Harriman, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. Miss Carola Harriman, another sister; Misses Ruth Averill, of Rochester, and Marion A. Clarke, cousins, and Misses Elsie Howland, Anita Peabody and Margaret Dix were bridesmaids. Peter Goelet Gerry, brother of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Harriman mansion in Fifth avenue and later a wedding breakfast was served.

The wedding attracted the greatest attention from the "non-elite" and Grace Church was besieged for hours by thousands of persons who lined the sidewalks to catch a glimpse of the notable guests. Half a hundred police were required to keep the streets about the church open and prevent traffic blockades.

Searching for Bank Robbers.

Chihuahua, Mex., Mar. 3.—Rurales are scouring the country about here for the robbers who stole $295,000 in Mexican bank notes by tunneling under and into the vault of the Banco de Minero, of which Enrique Creel, Governor of the State of Chihuahua and Mexican Ambassador to the United States, is president and principal stockholder.

While the rurales are closely watching the Mexican side of the border and a request has been made upon the United States immigration and custom authorities to keep a close watch for the fleeing outlaws, the impression here is that the band has reached the mountainous country west of Chihuahua.

Not only are the authorities alarmed by the proportions of the theft, but it is feared the success of the venture will be followed by further outbreaks of outlawry which has so long been practically stamped out. Large rewards are offered for the thieves' capture.

New Orleans Mardi Gras.

New Orleans, La., Mar. 2.—King Rex, of the Mardi Gras carnival, and the first real summer weather of 1908 arrived in New Orleans simultaneously yesterday, to the delight of thousands of visitors who recently left snowbound homes in the north.

With the sky cloudless, the temperature about 80, trees green and flowers blooming everywhere, Rex landed at a Mississippi river dock from a supposed ocean voyage and paraded through several miles of the city streets.

This ceremony was barely over when darkness arrived, and 20 big floats of the Krewe of Proteus began a night parade. These floats and the maskers and costumed men riding on them illustrated the subject, "The Light of Asia." Hindu beliefs and Buddhistic and Braminical customs were protrayed. Following the parade the maskers left their floats and gave the annual Proteus ball in the French Opera House.

The Italian cruiser Etruria, from gulf ports, was one of yesterday's arrivals to attend the carnival.

Uneasiness in Russia.

St. Petersburg, Mar. 3.—The czar's secret police are treating seriously last night's issuance in New York of the declaration of independence and establishment of the "United States of Russia" for which Ivan Norodny figures as sponsor under the title of "Chief Executive Commissioner of the Russian Republican Administration." Full particulars of Norodny's announcement have already been cabled here from America, together with his statement that he is in the United States as a kind of diplomatic agent under authority similar to that by which Benjamin Franklin acted when sent to Europe in the early days of the American republic.

The Russian police are seeking to learn whether Norodny really represents a movement of any proportion, and, if so, who are its leaders here and abroad.

China and Japan.

Tokio, March 3.—China has completely ignored Japan's demand for surrender of the Japanese steamship Tatsu Maru seized by Chinese on the ground that it was smuggling arms to revolutionists.

Unofficial statements from Chinese statesmen a few days ago indicated that China would give up the Tatsu, apologize and pay an indemnity. Subsequent developments make it appear that those who think a clash with Japan inevitable and deem this as good a time for it as any, have carried their point with the emperor

The Japanese cruiser Idzuma remains at Canton awaiting orders.

The Troubles in Hayti.

Port Au Prince, March 3.—News from Berlin that Germany intends to leave it to the United States to settle all existing troubles in Hayti is received with the utmost rejoicing here.

President Nord Alexis believes the latest developments insure the speedy surrender to the Haitian courts of the fugitive revolutionists to whom the foreign consuls have been giving refuge and that it will be possible to make terms by which future clashes of the kind can be avoided.

The British cruiser Indefatigable's departure is also assumed to mean that England considers further danger of trouble over.

Negro Murderer Confesses.

Baltimore, March 3.—Thomas Wilson, negro race horse trainer, who, when arrested last night for the murder of Cameron Cool, the noted turfman, who was choked to death on December 26 last in his stable at West Pittston, Pa., stoutly protested his innocence, made a confession this morning to Captain of Detectives Humphrey, and is being held pending the arrival of requisition papers from the Pennsylvania authorities.

New York Stock Market.

New York, March 3.—After fractional losses at the opening the market became strong and made material advances all through the first hour, the buying being about evenly divided between covering of shorts and the execution of bull manipulative orders. National lead advanced 2 points and gains of some extent were made in nearly everything traded in during the first hour.

LENT.

Ash Wednesday, tomorrow, March 4th, will mark the beginning of the Lenten period and in all the Episcopal, Catholic and Lutheran churches of the city there will be special services on that day, these to be followed with services on the week days as announced yesterday.

The Lenten season lasts forty days, Sundays excepted, and during the period from Ash Wednesday to Easter Sunday members of the Catholic and Episcopal churches are not only expected to fast to a certain extent, but also to give up some pleasure or amusement.

During this period, the theatre, dancing and other amusements come under the ban, although it is not necessary that all pleasures of life be given up during the Lenten season.

Sundays are not included in the forty days of Lent, inasmuch as they are "feast" days, while the week days are "fast" days.

At all of the Episcopal and Catholic churches during Lent there will be special services practically every day, with many extra services during holy week.

THE MISSING HORSE AND BUGGY.

Chief Gooda and Officer Ferguson yesterday evening arrested a youth named Cornelius Bryant on south Fairfax street for taking a horse and buggy belonging to the Alexandria Steam Laundry from this city to Fauquier county. Bryant had been employed at the laundry. He admitted having taken the team from the stable Saturday night, and intended to return it. Bryant said he desired to see his family at Warrenton, and had hoped to drive to that place and back by Sunday evening, but that the roads were so bad he was compelled to leave the horse and buggy with a relative at Midland, Va., and continue his journey by rail.

The case was called in the Police Court this morning, but it was continued until Thursday. The horse and buggy, it is expected, will be returned to the owners today. Bryant came here about a year ago from Fauquier county. He is subject to epileptic attacks, and when the officers arrested him yesterday evening he fell in a fit. He had another attack this morning.

SHROVE TUESDAY.

Today is Shrove Tuesday, and when the midnight hour is tolled it will sound the curfew of society for forty days. With the dawning of Ash Wednesday, his satanic majesty will take up his long vigil outside the gates of the Pavilion of Social Rest, and plan new mischief for frivolity's gay votaries. Shrove Tuesday marks the end of the social season in the leading cities of the world, and from the calm sinking into rest that characterizes the entrance into Lent of the northern cities to the spectacular court paid King Momus in New Orleans, the passing of the social season is marked in divers ways.

"PANCAKE DAY."

Shrove Tuesday, with fond memories of pancakes and feasting, was ushered in today—the last day before Lent. It marks the first signs of the close of the social whirl, which will abate somewhat until Easter Sunday.

Formerly the day had greater significance than at present. It preserved all the traditions of "pancake day," which in a measure have been lost.

Tomorrow will be Ash Wednesday, when ashes will be distributed in the Catholic churches with the words, "Dust thou art, and unto dust thou shalt return."

REFERRED TO GRAND CHIEF.

To W. S. Stone, grand chief of Order of Locomotive Engineers, the engineers of the Southern Railway have turned over their controversy with the officials of that system concerning the proposed reduction in wages. Mr. Stone left yesterday for Chicago to attend a meeting there Wednesday, when representatives of the various orders of train operatives will consider with the operating officials of railways the application of the hours of service law effective on that day. Mr. Stone will return to Washington Friday or Saturday.

Stabler, $500, and to Hannah J. and Mary T. Howell, $200 each. Other small cash bequests are also made. Do not Crowd the Season.

The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilarating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their flannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in mid-winter, as there is more danger of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures, and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

While Frivolity dabbles in pennance and prayers,

If Fashion decrees it, e'en the Devil must go
Back in the box.

DEATH OF BISHOP DUNCAN.

Bishop W. W. Duncan, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, died at Spartanburg, S. C., yesterday after a long illness.

William Wallace Duncan was elected bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1886. He was born in Boydton, Va., December 20, 1839. He was a son of the late Prof. David Duncan, of Wofford College, and a brother of Major D. R. Duncan, solicitor of the Seventh circuit, and of Col. D. P. Duncan, railroad commissioner. He graduated from Wofford College in 1858. The next year after his graduation he joined the Virginia Conference of the Southern Methodist Church, of which his brother, the late Dr. James A. Duncan, was a member. He filled the most prominent station in that conference until his transfer to the South Carolina Conference, in 1875, when he was called to the chair of mental and moral philosophy in Wofford College. In 1877 he was elected to succeed his brother, Dr. James A. Duncan, as president of the Randolph Macon College, Va., but declined the honor to hold his position in Wofford College. Bishop Duncan was of fine presence, of winning address and of very popular manners.

TUESDAY, EVENING, MAR. 3, 1908.

Found the Set.

This story is told by a man who dislikes nothing so much as to be asked questions:

"My little girl is very fond of seashells," he said, "and, having been called to Atlantic City on business one day, I took advantage of the opportunity to run down to the beach to see if I could pick up a few. I was strolling along the sand, gathering a few shells and pebbles, which I placed in my handkerchief, when along came one of those old idiots who ask questions with their mouths which their eyes could answer. He smiled upon me and said: 'Fine day, isn't it? Are you gathering shells?'

"'No,' I snapped back, saying the first thing that popped into my mind; 'I'm looking for a set of false teeth I lost while in bathing.'

"He expressed his sympathy, and then his face lit up as his eye caught sight of a pink and white object on the sand. 'Well, I declare! Here they are now!' he exclaimed, and, sure enough, he picked up a set of false teeth lying right at his feet. I was too surprised to do anything but grab them and put them in my pocket. The funny part of it is that I never had a tooth pulled in my life. I wonder whom that false set belongs to."—Philadelphia Record.

He Believed the Boy.

A judge was explaining to a young student friend the intricacies of evidence. He illustrated well the case of conflicting evidence—how when the statements of two witnesses are opposed the more probable statement is to be accepted.

"Usually in conflicting evidence," he said, "one statement is far more probable than the other, so that we can decide easily which to believe. It is like the boy and the house hunter. A house hunter, getting off a train at a suburban station, said to a boy:

"'My boy, I am looking for Mr. Smithson's new block of semidetached cottages. How far are they from here.'

"'About a twenty minutes' walk,' the boy replied.

"'Twenty minutes!' exclaimed the house hunter. 'Nonsense! The advertisement says five.'

"'Well,' said the boy, 'you can believe me or you can believe the advertisement, but I ain't tryin' to make no sale.'"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Dish of Tea.

In reference to a note about a "dish of tea," it may be mentioned that "dish" throughout the eighteenth century was a colloquialism for cup. In fashionable houses at first, and for long, tea was drunk from a cup without a handle brought from China. The vessel was termed a dish. When the Chinese cup was first copied by English potters, the convenience of a handle was added. The saucer also was brought from China. It received the name because of its resemblance to the English saucer, a platter in which sauce was served. The familiar gibe, "saucer eyes," was originally inspired by the sauce saucer long before Lord Arlington gave the first tea party in England in Arlington House, where Buckingham palace stands, at the Restoration period.—London Chronicle.

Destructive Music.

A member of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Opera House tells a story that he had from one of the musicians attached to the orchestra there. It appears that a friend of the wife of the musician had during a call on the latter inquired as to the husband's taste in musical matters. Among other things she wanted to know what operas the musician liked best to play.

"I don't know much about dot," said the better half, who was at the time busily engaged in darning an old shirt, "but I do know somet'ings. Voteffer he likes I like not dos Wagner operas. Dey sounds vell enough, but dose clothes—ach! He neffer yet comes home from dot Wagner opera dot he haf not torn a place in his poor old shirts. I brefer the Italian operas."

A Dangerous Feat.

For a feat of dexterity and nerve it would be difficult to surpass that of the Bosjesman of South Africa, who walks quietly up to a puff adder and deliberately sets his bare foot on its neck. In its struggles to escape and attempts to bite its assailant the poison gland secretes a large amount of the venom. This is just what the Bosjesman wants. Killing the snake, he eats the body and uses the poison for his arrows.

Where Ma Was Strict.

Little Girl—My mamma is awful strict. Is yours? Little Boy—Orful. Little Girl—But she lets you go anywhere you want to and— Little Boy—Oh, she ain't strict with me. Little Girl—Then who is she strict with? Little Boy—Pa.

Wasteful.

Grasper (a very careful man)—No, I should never allow my daughter to marry a journalist. He always wastes one side of the paper. And still less should she wed a poet. He doesn't even go to the end of the line.

Suited the Case.

Tom—Here! You've started your note to Borroughs "Dr. Sir." Don't you know that sort of abbreviation is very slovenly? Dick—No, sir. "Dr." is all right in this case. He owes me money.—Kansas City Independent.

Result of Early Training.

Cobwigger—In what way does Newrich show that he isn't a gentleman? Merritt—By paying cash for everything he buys.—Tailor.

Just praise is only a debt, but flattery is a present.—French Proverb.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved.

B. F. Crocker, Esq., now 84 years of age, and for twenty years Justice of the Peace at Martinsburg, Iowa, says: "I am terribly afflicted with sciatic rheumatism in my left arm and right hip. I have used three bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it did me lots of good." For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

Water and Life.

Of all the conditions preparatory to life the presence of water, composed of oxygen and hydrogen, is at once the most essential and the most worldwide, for if water be present the presence of other necessary elements is probably assured. If water exist, that fact goes half for the necessary temperature, the gamut of life being coextensive with the existence of water as such. It is so consequentially, life being impossible without water. Whatever the planet, this is of necessity true. But the absolute degrees of temperature within which life can exist vary according to the mass of the body, another of the ways in which mere size tells. On the earth 212 degrees F. limits the range at the top and 32 degrees F. at the bottom in the case of fresh water, 27 degrees F. in the case of salt. On a smaller planet both limits would be lowered, the top one the most. On Mars the boiling point would probably be about 110 degrees F. Secondly, from the general initial oneness of their constituents a planet that still possesses water will probably retain the other substances that are essential to life—gases, for the reason that water vapor is next to hydrogen and helium the lightest of them all, and solids because their weight would still more conduce to keep them there. Water, indeed, acts as a solution to the whole problem.—Professor Lowell's "The Evolution of Life" in Century Magazine.

Only an Office Boy.

"If you want a ready-to-hand study in the downright cussedness of human nature unwarped," said an insurance agent, "just watch the office boys in your own or any other place of business. In four cases out of five the thing will come out this way:

"A new boy is engaged. He is meek and mild, apologetic of bearing and courteous of speech. He is apparently seeking an excuse for daring to make a living. He looks reproachfully at the head office boy, who orders him around in a rough, catch-as-catch-can style. Such rudeness palns him.

"Note this boy a little later. His rude superior has resigned or been dismissed, and he is now head office boy. Is he meek and mild, apologetic and reproachful? Say, he's a worse young ruffian than his predecessor—bullyrags the newcomer, ignores the cuspidor, uses language not fit to print and comes dangerously near 'sassing' his employer. He knows it all, and a little more.

"There are exceptions, but they prove the rule."—New York Globe.

A Big Grasshopper.

A geographical expedition which set out for Australia on an exploring and mapmaking tour had engaged a negro cook, who took great interest in everything he saw. While the party was en route a kangaroo broke out of the grass and made for the horizon with prodigious leaps, an event that interested the colored gentleman exceedingly.

"You all have pretty wide meadows hereabouts, I reckon," he said to the native who was guiding the party.

"Not any larger than those of other countries," returned the guide most politely.

"Well, there must be mighty powerful high grass roundabouts, heh?" he insisted.

"Not that I know of," replied the guide. "Why do you ask such odd questions?"

"Why, I'll tell you, boss. I was thinkin' of the mighty uncommon magnitude of them grasshoppers."—Kansas City Independent.

An Artist's Ruse.

A Roman cavalier commissioned a great artist to paint his portrait, no definite price being agreed upon. When the portrait was finished, the painter asked 100 crowns in payment. The highborn sitter, amazed at the demand, returned no more nor dared to send for his counterfeit presentment, whereupon the artist hit upon the happy expedient of first painting bars across the portrait, then affixing the doleful legend, "Imprisoned for debt," and finally placing it in a prominent part of his studio, to which Roman nobles frequently resorted. Ere long a rich relative came to the rescue and released his kinsman.

Newton's Telescope.

Newton's telescope is a clumsy looking instrument, nine inches in length, two inches in aperture and capable of magnifying thirty-eight times. It was entirely made by Newton himself, who first exhibited it before the Royal society in 1671, and more than 100 years later his successor in the presidency of the society laid before George III. Sir William Herschel's scheme for making a telescope on Newton's plan, to be forty feet in length and four feet in aperture.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Financial Expedient.

Shoeblack—Shine, sir? Four sous? Passerby—No, thank you. Shoeblack—Two sous? Passerby—No. Shoeblack—For nothing, then? Passerby—All right, if you like. Shoeblack (after having finished one shoe)—It's 6 sous to clean the other, sir.—Nos Loisirs.

Kept Busy.

One of the contemporary poets asks, "Where are the bright girls of the past?" Our own observation is that some of them are administering cautious doses of paregoric to the bright girls of the future.

Tender Hearted.

Mrs. Muggins—My husband is too tender hearted to whip the children. Mrs. Buggins—Humph! My husband is so tender hearted that he can't even beat the carpet!

Where envying is, there is confusion and every evil work.—New Testament.

The Other Reason.

A teamster retires at the age of ninety with an accumulation of $50,000. He says he wants and is entitled to a rest. Some inquirers want to know how he could have saved so much on $12 a week, the highest wages he ever received. The answer is easy. He got $2 a day. He lived on 22 cents a day. He saved the difference. I lived in New York on 5 cents a day for nearly six months and was in magnificent health. Some people eat to live; others live to eat. As the old chap on the ferryboat said to the small boy:

"Sonny, why does a pig eat?"

"'Cause he's hungry."

"No. There's another reason."

"Whut's dat?"

"He wants to make a hog of himself."—New York Press.

Sam Weller.

It was Sam Weller who made Dickens famous. "Pickwick Papers" were a complete failure financially until this unique character was introduced. The press was all but unanimous in praising Samival as an entirely original character whom none but a great genius could have created. Dickens received over $16,000 for "Pickwick Papers," and at the age of twenty-six he was incomparably the most popular author of his day.—London Standard.

Tame Your Rattlesnakes.

A tame rattlesnake belonging to an Arizona farmer sleeps every night on the front gate of its owner's garden, coiling himself around the gate and gatepost, so that a lock and chain to keep out intruders are not needed.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Foiled.

"Ah!" said Bragley, with a view to making Miss Wise jealous. "I was alone last evening with some one I admire very much."

"Ah!" echoed the bright girl. "Alone, were you?"—Philadelphia Press.

A Losing Scheme.

"They tell me that poor Jolly is a victim of his own good fellowship."

"That's so. He lost his own health in drinking other people's."—Baltimore American.

The Coop.

"This flat is a mere coop."

"Yes, John," said his wife sweetly, "and the cook has just flew it."—Pittsburg Post.

Quick climatic changes try strong constitutions and cause, among other evils, nasal catarrh, a troublesome and offensive disease. Sneezing and snuffling, coughing and difficult breathing, and the drip, drip of the foul discharge into the throat—all are ended by Ely's Cream Balm. This honest remedy contains no cocaine, mercury nor other harmful ingredient. The worst cases yield to treatment in a short time. All druggists, 50c, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.
